IMPORTANT ARREST.

EDWARD J. HALL CHARGED WITH UTTERING FORGED BONDS TO THE AMOUNT OF THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS-A STARTLING CRIMINAL

arrested yesterday afternoon and brought a prisoner to the Jefferson Market Court, on the charge of utter ing and passing forged bonds to the amount of $30,000 on Greene county of this State. The arrest was made on a bench warrant signed by the District Attorney of Greene county and dated about the 13th of this month, charging Hall with the above offence. Hall was arraigned before Justice Wandell, who recognized him as one who had been brought fore him three years ago on a similar charge. What is there in this charge ?" asked the Justice

"Nothing," replied Hall; "I guess it will blow ever. I do not care to say anything unless repre-

ted by counsel."

Robert A. Pinkerton appeared in court and identified the signature of the warrant. Hall was thereupon turned over to his care. Pinkerton and the prisoner left the court room, got into a carriage in waiting and drove off to the Hudson River Railroad Depot. They there took the train for Catakill.

Mr. Pinkerton informed the reporter that the evidence against Hall was obtained through a man who was arrested a short time ago in Poughkeepsie for passing forged bonds in that neighborhood. While under arrest he confessed that hall was the originator of the bonds. He added that Hall was the head of an extensive gang of forgers, and that he had in his employ a force of lithographers and other skilled workinen. Pinkerton alleged that his prisoner was one of the boldest and most adroit forgers in the country, and that he had been after him for months. Hall is said to have lived in Jersey City.

THE PRISONER'S CRIMINAL RECORD.

He took his arrest very coolly and smiled while he inswered the questions addressed him. He is about oriy-five years of age, tall, rather solemn faced and has dreamy looking eyes. The present is not the irst time he has been arrested, but his long head and kilfully worked plans have on every occasion served o carry him through his troubles. His confederates have suffered while he escaped. He is considered by the detective force as one of the smartest men in his lisreputable profession.

have suffered while he escaped. He is considered by the detective force as one of the smartest men in his disreputable profession.

On October 22, 1872, Mr. Owen O'Connor, a Broadway broker, had his pockets picked of fifty $1,000 bonds of the Hannibal and St. Joseph Hailroad Company. He had just left the Equitable Building, where he obtained the bonds, when they were stolen. The efforts of numerous detectives to discover the thief were unavailing until March 4, 1876, when Detective Mroougal arrested Hall while in an attempt to negotiate one of the stolen bonds with a Wall street firm. Hall was taken to court, but, after several arraignments and examinations, was released.

Offire Hittle Transactions.

At another time he was connected with Spence Pettis, Gleason and Roberts in their extensive railroad bond forgeries, and also in the forgeries of the bonds of the Oregon and California Italiroad Company, for which he was arrested in 1875, but discharged on the technical ground that none of the forgeries of letters of credit on the Bank of British North America, of Montreal. He was arraigned before Justice Wandell. Examinations occupying five days took place before Justice Wandell. During all that time Hall never opened his mouth. The Justice said, last night, in talking about the case, that he never knew a man who appeared so quiet and assured of his discharge. The magistrate knew that if the man would only testify he would convict thimself, but he sat looking at his accusers and quietly laughing at their efforts to have him convicted. During his trial his wife, a fine looking woman, was constantly by his side and displayed great devotion to his cause.

BADLY WOUNDED.

The house No. 24 Oak street, near the "hard place" known as "Fisher's alley," was the scene of an at tempted murder last night. Annie Sullivan, thirtyeven years of age, was stabbed by a married seven years of age, was stabbed by a married Italian named Michaele Marrae, who lives in the same house. The woman was cut twice in the right side of the abdomen, and the surgeons at Chambers Bireet Hospital, where she was received about nime of clock, look upon her injuries as serious. The stabbing was slone about eight o'clock, while Annie was in the act of drawing water from the hydrant. The victim says that she gave the Italian no provocation, and as Marrae, who was speedily arrested and taken to the Oak street station by Officer Olbay, refused to make any statement, the cause of the attack remains a mystery. Annie, who does not think she has been seriously injured, walked from the ambulance to the hospital, where her wounds were properly attended to.

PERILOUS ADVENTURES.

Bridget Foy appeared before Justice Betts at Jamaica yesterday, asking to be sent to her sisters in Newport, R. I. Her face was covered with blood and Ing story:—"I left Newport the day before Thanksgiving and walked to New York to find employment, but after wandering around the city for some time I wanted to return, but lost my way, and reached Long Island City and walked to Jamaica."
"Where did you sleep?" asked the Justice.
"Anywhere I could find shelter. Last night I slept in an old depot about two miles from here."

How did you get your face cut?"
I was sleeping under the cars, and they ran over me."

The railroad employes tell an entirely different story. They say she rode from Long Island City to Jamaica on one of the trucks of the coal cars, with nothing to hold fast to except the break chain, and when the cars stopped she was thrown from her perilous position and dragged some distance on the ground. Dr. Hendrickson dressed her wounds, and she was left in the care of the Overseer of the Poor.

WHAT LED HIM TO STEAL.

The show window in the store of Kohn & Frankfield, opticians, at No. 209 Sixth avenue, was broken esterday morning, shortly after one o'clock, and yesterday morning, shortly after one o'clock, and instruments valued at $9 stolen. Officer Connolly heard the crash of glass, and noticing a young man run across Fourteenth street at Sixth avenue, he chased and captured him. To the Justice, in the Jefferson Market Court, yesterday, the prisoner said his name was Thomas Wagner, twenty-two years of age and homeless. "I've been a dry goods clerk, sir," he said in reply to the question of his guilt, "but have been out of employment since last May. I tried hard" (the tears came into his eyes here), "indeed I did, sir, to find work, but my little sum of money gave out. Then my only home was in the streets. A miscrable life I led for days, but I felt so hungry this morning that I could not help steahing. I intended to pawn what I took and buy bread." He was held in default of $2,000 bail for further examination.

At the Sullivan Street African Methodist Episcopal Church, last evening, there was held a grand reunion for the benefit of Bev. Mr. C. A. Mossell, who has been laboring for the past two years among his colored brethren in Hayti. The reverend gentleman described in his own way the condition of the people of that island, and said there was abundant work for all the missionaries that could be sent out.

EXCISE COMMISSIONERS MORRISON AND MERKLE INDICTED BY THE GRAND JURY.

Excise Commissioners Morrison and Merkle were two months ago held by Justice Kilbreth, in Essex Market Police Court, in $1,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury on charges of misdemeanor in their official capacity. The Society for the Prevention of Crime have for some time been endeav unsuccessful until yesterday, when the Grand Jury ordered indictments against Messrs. Morriso and Merkle. The charge that Counsel Whitney, at torney for the society, makes against the Commis-sioners is misdemeanor in office in granting a license to Byrnes & White, of West Houston street, whose establishment it was alleged did not possess the re-to Byrnes & White, of West Houston street, whose establishment it was alleged did not possess the requirements of a hotel as defined by the law, and whose characters had not been sufficiently investigated before granting a license.

COMMISSIONER MORRISON'S VIEWS.

A reporter last evening called upon Commissioner Morrison, who was quite outspoken in his expression of opinion regarding the course pursued by the Society for the Prevention of Crime. It was to their famaticism, he said, that the action of the Grand Jury was due. He felt positive, too, that that body had not fairly considered his position and that of his associate before passing adversely upon them. That a just presentment of their case would effect a change of opinion he did not doubt, and he said he could not be much surprised at the indictment, as he, knew the Grand Jury had heart but one side of the case. The pertinacity of the society in urging the indictment was due, he believed, to no autagonism to the Commissioners themselves, but was simply a movement to test the law of 1857, which they have long sought to have legally adjudicated. "The Society for the Prevention of Crime." he said, "desired to prevent, no matter what their professions may be, all licensed liquor selling. It was with this idea that, a couple of months since, they went before Justice Kilbreth, as a man imbued with their own ideas, to procure a decision favorable to their views. They would not go before police justices generally, but selected a man who entertains extreme opinions similar to their own. There can be no question as to the result—the law and facts are favorable to us. We took every precaution to ascertain that the law was complied with in this case of Mosses. Byrnes & White, and have no hesitation in declaring my confidence in a prompt acquittal and dismissal when the other side of the story is told the Grand Jury. Counsel Whitney has been almost every month since we have been in office knocking at the doors of the Grand Jury room to precure our indictment, but in the bills."

DR. MERKLE'S VIKWS.

Dr. Merkle, who was found at his residence in Fifty-second street late last evening, said:—"Well, I'm not sorry that the matter will now be decided, for we have always been in bot water; but I did not expect this action from, the Grand Jury. We have done our duty and always acted conscientiously in its performance, and have no doubt that when our side of the story is told to the Grand Jury we will be entirely exonerated from all blame."

OFFICIALS IN DIFFICULTY.

Brooklyn Board of City Works, Messrs. John W. Fisherty and George C. Bennett; also Michael J. Dady, Superintendent of Sewers, and Peter Milne, Water Purveyor, which was to have taken place in the Brooklyn City Court, before Judge Neilson, yesterday was postponed for one week, owing to the sickness of Mr. W. K. S. Fales, counsel for Michael Dady. The indictments against the accused are for misdemeanor in conspiring to defraud the city out of $50,000.

A BRAVE DRIVER,

RUNAWAY STREET CAR HORSES ALMOST DE-MOLISH ANOTHER CAR-COOLNESS OF HENRY QUINN. An exciting scene and the wildest commotion

among the passengers of a crowded horse car was caused about half-past five o'clock last evening at avenue A and Eleventh street by a runsway team bearing down upon them at lightning speed and colliding with the car, from which the passengers had fled precipitately.

Thomas Concanon, driver on the Avenue A and Forty-second Street road, found his team restive and unmanageable. It was the first trip that they had Eleventh street a snow plough came tearing past, scattering the snow in all directions and causing a scattering the snow in all directions and causing a great noise. The unruly team took fright and botted. The driver had put on the brakes and held firmly to the reins. But the maddened horses were not to be stopped by such ordinary devices. With a bound they snapped assunder the traces, whisked the driver over the dashboard and sped down the avenue with the hapless driver still clutching the reins. He was dragged about a block, and was badly bruised. In the meantime car No. 30, driven by Henry Quinn, was proceeding up the avenue, and was in the vicinity of Eighth street, when the breakneck pace of the ranaway team, bearing down upon him, warned him of the approaching danger. The passengers, too, became alarmed at the situation, and they made lively time in escaping from the interior of the car, several of them, in their hurry and terror, jumping through the windows. Quinn, He received an ugly scalp wound and was badly bruised about the shoulders and knees. At first it was supposed he was killed and a stretcher was sent for to the Seventeenth precinct station, but before its arrival he regained consciousness and was removed to Bellevue Hospital. One of the runaway team was fatally disabled. The animal's leg was badly broken and the beast was shot.

For a long time the utmost excitement prevailed. Those who witnessed the accident spoke in the highest terms of praise of the coolness and presence of mind of the injured driver. But for the prompt manner in which he had stopped his car and thereby allowed the passengers to alight several lives might have been lost. His remaining as his post to turn his team out of danger may cost him his life. The velocity of the runaway animals was such that the dashboard was completely torn away and the horses precipitated on the platform and partially through the front door, which was also broken to pieces by the force of the driver's body being huried against it, and landed in the interior of the car.

THE FIFTH AVENUE GARROTING

Captain Williams, of the Twenty-ninth precinct, arrested yesterday a man who was supposed to have garroted Mrs. De Barry, in Fifth avenue, last Friday afternoon, and robbed her of her dismond carring. The prisoner was arraigned at Jefferson Market Court, but as his identity with the robbery could not be established he was discharged. Captain Williams subsequently called at the Central Office and held a conference with Captain Kealy, where the two officials discussed the method of the robbery and agreed upon a plan to apprehend the bold highwayman.

The matter has been placed in the hands of Detectives Thompson and McGowan. These officers have been searching since the night of the robbery for some clew that might put them on the track of the thief. It was not until late last evening that they obtained any further information of the case than that published in Saturday's Herald. A man who witnessed the garroting was found, and he informed the officers that he had chased the desperado for several blocks. This man gave the detectives an accurate description of the robber, which is believed to be far better than that furnished by the lady. The detectives are confident that by this new description they will be able to have the highwayman behind the bare before many hours have passed. During the investigations made sby the police they learned that the thieves whose pictures were pointed out as resembling the garroter could not have perpetrated the crime. The forger is still in prison, and Ward, the sneak thief, at the present time occupies a cell in the Penitentiary at Blackwell's Island. He was sent to the Island over a month ago for being concerned in a petty crime.

GRANT "NOT CORRUPT."

It is not so much General Grant personally that is objected to, as the environment that would come with him. It is not that General Grant is dishonest or corrupt himself, but he does not have the faculty of discerning dishonesty and corruption. General Peffer locked him up in Jamaica yeaterday.

Arthur H. Greenwood and his two colleagues, Meeker and Horne, recently indicted for conspiracy in that they had induced Passaic (N. J.) liquor dealers to violate the Sunday law with a view to an after prosecution and recovery of a fine—were yesterday sentenced in the General Sessions, at Paterson, to pay a fine of $50 each and costs—about $190 tor each.

Henry Kluber, the keeper of a small ship chandlery in River street, Hoboken, is accused by the United States authorities of sunggling in having reserved cognac, cigars and smul brought of German and Leglish steamers. He had an examination yesterday at Nowark before Commissioner Whitehead, which, upon his motion, was adjourned for a week. His wife, who has also been arrested, is to have an examination next Monday.
